UNDERSTANDING OUR FAITH

ב"ה

BROTHERLY LOVE

In essence, we are all the same, and we all come from one Father. Therefore, all Jews are called brothers, because our souls are all rooted in the One G-d; it is only our bodies that are different. (Tanya, Ch. 32)

Faith in one G-d dictates that, in essence, we are all the same. Only circumstances, our bodies and experiences, separate us. Even siblings can argue, but they feel an essential bond and know that they really love each other.

We must realize that this is true of us all. Deep down, we are very much the same and want to help each other. We must keep this faith and constantly work to reveal this love by simple acts of kindness and good faith.

Tanya ch. 32.
